The Financial Situation.

The New York Financial Chronicle presents the following table, which indicates that the total bank clearings of all the clearing houses of the United States for the week ending September 20th, have been $1,286,052,334, against $1,165,134,546 last week, and $1,050,946,529 the corresponding week last year.

CLEARINGS.	Returns by Telegraph.	Week Ending September 20.
		1890.	1889.
New York	$694,068,461	$500,711,002	36.1
Boston	12,022,573	68,728,334	47.7
Philadelphia	60,721,176	60,888,082	-0.3
Baltimore	12,233,361	11,446,208	10.3
Chicago	11,148,000	58,023,000	21.3
St. Louis	18,701,361	16,674,570	12.2
New Orleans	5,553,388	5,479,252	9.2
Seven cities, 5 days	$305,344,012	$274,362,489	21.8
Other cities, 5 days	130,102,216	102,569,213	27.3
Total all cities, 5 days	$435,446,228	$376,931,702	21.8
All cities, 1 day	229,606,106	176,114,827	29.3
Total all cities, 1 day	$1,286,052,334	$1,050,946,529	22.4

The aggregate for all the cities exhibits a gain over the preceding week of nearly $151,000,000. At New York alone there is a gain of over $140,000,000, and this is mainly ascribable to the increased volume of speculative transactions. Operations on the Boston stock exchange have been much heavier than in the previous week.

For cotton, provisions, petroleum and breadstuffs combined the value of the exports this year, in August, was about $4,000,000 less than in August last year. The crop situation, however, is reported to be improving.

As the result of easier money and the heavy disbursements by the treasury, the stock market has shown a decidedly better tone during the past week, with a sharp recovery in prices. The whole range of stocks has participated in this improvement, though some shares have advanced more than others. During the last few days the southwestern properties have been strong on reports of the formation of a cast-iron agreement for maintaining rates and preventing rate wars in that section of the country. Railroad gross earnings still show gains over last year on the majority of roads, and general mercantile trade remains large and active.

State bonds have fully recovered from the decline sustained early in the week. The sales comprise Georgia 7s gold, $20,000, at 101½ to 101½; Tennessee Settlement 3s, $11,500, at 72 to 73, and $6,82,000 at 100; Virginia consols 6s, ex-matured coupon, $10,000 at 53.

A better inquiry is manifest for railroad bonds, and prices have in most cases more than made good the shrinkage due to tight money. If comparison is drawn with the closing price two weeks since (there having been undue depression last Friday) the following changes are seen: Atchison 4s closing at 84½, against 84; Mobile and Ohio general 4s at 60½, against 65½; Philadelphia and Reading 4s at 82½, against 81½; Texas and Pacific consols 6s at 91½, against 91½; Washash 1st 5s at 102, against 101½. San Antonio and Arkansas Pass bonds are lower, the 1st 6s of 1920 closing at 72½, against 74½ two weeks since.

Chicago's White Elephant.
The Chicago newspapers were recently rejoicing over the selection of a site for the world's fair; but it now appears that their joy was premature, as there is a great row over the site selected and it may be changed a half dozen times before the warring factions are satisfied.

The trouble about this world's fair business is that everybody in the Breezy City wants a slice of it; they are not after the glory of the thing, but the money that is in it.

At a recent meeting of the directors the salary of the director general was fixed at $15,000 a year. This is practically all that has been done toward the great enterprise. The matter of salaries, it seems, is of first importance to them.

From the day the award of the fair was announced the citizens commenced to wrangle over it, and they are wrangling still. Of course, in reference to the salaries of the men who have the scheme in charge, it is but fair that they should receive just compensation for their labors. But is it not time that they should give the country some practical evidence of work? Fifteen thousand dollars is a good salary for even the director general of a world's fair; but if he would only give the country an earnest of work the people would bid him God-speed and extend congratulations.

As matters stand they appear to be paying out all the money and getting no returns for it. They should either go to work, or resign in favor of New York or some other pushing and energetic city.

More Invasions from New England.
The Boston Post gives notice that Messrs. Raymond and Whitcomb, of that city, "contemplate a series of excursions to the leading cities and points of special interest in the new south, including Roanoke, Va., Atlanta, Ga., Birmingham, Ala., Chattanooga, Tenn., etc."

Much good has been done by these visits of representative New Englanders to the Piedmont region, and it is a noticeable fact that since they have been coming here and making investments, there has been a better feeling in New England about this region. This is not surprising; the people of New England are good stock, and they have lived long enough in the country to be patriotic, but they have sometimes done the people of the south great injustice by harsh judgments that were the result of ignorance. As they become better informed about this region, the masses of New England are beginning to look upon us in a fairer light. Their shrewdness has discovered that there are great opportunities here, and they are taking good advantage of the discovery.

Georgia counts among its most useful citizens some New Englanders who are spending their efforts and their money freely in developing the resources of north Georgia. The attitude with which they adapt themselves to the region is really wonderful, until we recall the fact that these people are really our own flesh and blood. All through Georgia there are descendants of men who came over in the Mayflower. Other people came direct to Georgia from the same parts of England that furnished New England with its early population. New England and the Piedmont region are alike peopled principally by the Anglo-Saxons and the Celts, and though they have lived apart for generations, and have become accustomed to different habits and different vernaculars, they are at heart the same race yet; they have the same courage, the same enterprise and the same conservatism.

However the persistent malice of partisans may have kept them apart, the people, when they mingle, are the same race, the same flesh and blood that harkened to the wisdom of Alfred the Great, or fought with William the Conqueror. For the good people of New England who desire to see our country and know our people, we have always a cordial welcome.

What Becomes of the Money.
The enormous sums received by the government—amounting to over four hundred and fifty million dollars from internal revenue and nearly as much from customs-house receipts, and other sources, shows that nearly two-thirds of the currency passes through the federal treasury every year. In fact, we may say that the currency of this country is annually collected and distributed by the government. It does not matter what happens to trade, to business or to individual enterprises, whether large or small. This process of grinding goes on from year to year.

One hundred million is paid out annually to the soldiers for pensions. Another hundred million to improve rivers and harbors, for the benefit of trade.

The army and navy consumes another very large slice. And the civil list, including federal officers, another very large slice, and what is left after paying their salary is dispensed by congress to all classes except the farmer. To use a very common phrase, he gets the goose.

When we consider that it requires more than the aggregate amount of the circulating medium of the country to move the crops of the country—and that he has to wait until all this money passes through the treasury of the United States, and that then the speculator, who stands between the moving of the crops and the treasury, is to be satisfied before there is anything left for the farmer, we need no longer wonder at the scarcity of money which it is most needed by the farmer.

The law is so arranged that he cannot get a dollar of all this money from the government without parting with the produce he has raised. He is prohibited from borrowing money on his land. If the speculator gets into trouble by reason of tight money, the government is ready to pay him $50,000 in money, in premiums, on his bonds, or in anticipation of interest. But the farmer must part with his crop, at the price fixed by some one else, and if it is half what it cost him to make it, it has to go—and there is no help for it.

Who can call to mind a single instance where our congress or the president, or the secretary of the treasury, any of them, have made a single move to financially relieve the farmer. Speeches and appeals are made daily to pay pensions, to silence commerce, to help manufacturers, to keep up the army and navy and for the relief of the bondholder or the banks. All the farmer gets is empty promises made on the stump just before elections.

And yet the annual product from the farms of the United States is the source of all our wealth, and but for what they furnish the whole government would collapse in a short time. These are facts, and fine-spun theories may be written or spoken, but these facts cannot be wiped out.

Whatever else is done with our money the farmers have but a poor showing at it, and hence have but little of it.

A Society of Authors.
The Boston Evening Transcript is in favor of an incorporated society of authors in this country, as there is in England, and thinks that it would be a most useful organization.

A similar society here, it believes, would not fail favorably to affect legislation in the matter of international copyright.

There may be something in this. It cannot, indeed, be doubted, since other means have failed to obtain the desired results, that a strong organization of this kind would be able to accomplish much good. There is a strength in united action which would benefit our authors; they cannot hope to reach the summit of their ambition, as far as international copyright is concerned, by individual and spasmodic appeals to congress. They must move together, and as one man, if they hope for success.

The writers of England are pulling together, so to speak, and it is now in order for their brethren in America to follow their example on this line. It seems to us that this will be a good way to solve a problem which has entailed great suffering on them—a way by which they will be enabled to remedy all their grievances, and get the justice which belongs to them.

Pensioning Ex-Confederates.
There is a very general movement in many southern cities toward the pensioning of ex-confederate soldiers—at least, they are attracting more interest now than heretofore. This good result is, perhaps, attributable as much to the interest which the government is manifesting in the care of the soldiers of the union army as to anything else—an interest, it may be remarked, in which the south is largely concerned, from the fact that the pension fund is an unwarranted drain upon her treasury, and southern men are taxed unnecessarily to support the soldiers who fought against them.

The brilliant example of Atlanta in taking care of the soldiers who fought to defend her and the south is having wholesome effect. The veterans of the confederacy are drifting away; the ranks are being thinned daily and they are nearing that last camping ground where the silent companies will answer no more to the roll call; but where the last bivouac fires are lighted and the war drums beat no longer.

It is well that this interest in their welfare should obtain in every southern state. They deserve all that can be done for them; and this debt of gratitude to the veterans of the south's battles will be a grateful memory to her people when the last soldier has crossed the river and lies down to pleasant dreams in the still valleys of eternal rest.

A Wise Move.
The suggestion to put an electric line on between Ponce de Leon springs and Westview cemetery by the Atlanta Street railroad, will do much to make that company one of the most valuable properties in the south. It will, of course, require the expenditure of a considerable sum of money, but if the company has the nerve to make the expenditure it will pay them enormously in the end, and so well in dividends that it will require a considerable premium on the stock before the present holders will part with it.

The distance traversed is about six miles. It goes immediately through the center of Atlanta and West End. Sixty thousand people will be on each side of it, and for half the distance, with an electric line properly managed, it will require a car every three minutes to properly accommodate the travel. It is not possible to get a line of such length in any city south of Washington that will give as many patrons on each side of the line. With proper equipment, and properly handled, it would carry more passengers daily than any six miles of any kind of railroad in the south.

These are facts that cannot be disputed, and if the Atlanta Street Railroad Company does not realize it very soon some other company will—not exactly on the same line, but one similar—but no company can cover the ground equally as good.

The Mortgage was for $80,000.
The omission of a cipher in the article on "Looking on the Bright Side" yesterday was calculated to minimize an important business venture.

Where it should have been stated that "The Flint River Land and Live Stock Company" had issued mortgage bonds for $80,000 in its capital stock of $80,000, the perverted types made it appear as $8,000.

This property is returned for taxation at a valuation of $23,000, it being public policy to encourage new enterprises, and the fact being, as already stated, that property is seldom assessed at its full value.

THE FARMERS ARE PLANTING A VERY LARGE CROP OF DISCONTENT THIS YEAR.

THE PICTURE OF MR. CHARLES W. HUBNER appeared in Mr. B. M. Blackburn's write-up of Wednesday, yesterday, labeled "W. A. Wilkins." Now, Major Wilkins is not a poet, but is one of the most enterprising citizens of Georgia. He has strongly marked features of his own, which would have showed out prominently if the right face had been presented.

It is said that Utah wants ten acres of space for her display at the world's fair. She might step in and assist Chicago in the selection of a site.

OUR EXCHANGES ARE CALLING UP JOHN L. SULLIVAN TO RUN FOR CONGRESS. This might fill a long-felt want, but John would have a few rivals in the present congress.

AN EXCHANGE says that Editor Shepard, of The New York Text in Distress, is "a very saving man." He must be saving up his goodness, as it never appears in his newspaper.

THE EDITORIALS OF THE NEW YORK PRESS ARE BRIEF AND BREEZY—MORE WIND THAN WISDOM.

JOE HOWARD, OF THE NEW YORK PRESS, SAYS THAT "BROTHER WINDHAM HAS A GREAT HEAD." It seems to us that he might use it with fine effect in the republican party at this time, as it has no head worth speaking about.

EUGENE FIELD IS SPEAKING TO BE A PRETTY GOOD FOREIGNER. But in the meantime he is doing the European a great favor by putting their poetry in musical American rhyme.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

MR. INGALLS IS NOW COMING IN FOR A SHARE OF REPUBLICAN ABUSE. The fact is, the republican party has very few leaders who are free from the party's wrath.

A KANSAS exchange says that this is the time of year when the Kansas philosopher quit talking about their plans for keeping the hot winds out of the state and begin figuring on specifications for keeping the northern blizzards out of the kitchens.

IT IS SAID THAT STILES McALON, ninety-four years of age, of Harris, Va., lately walked from Montpelier to Emory Pond, a distance of twenty miles, before 2:30 p. m. He refused several offers to ride, and only stopped to take breakfast. He says he never had a doctor in his life, never uses medicine, and can hear as well as ever. He is a republican who neither dies nor resigns.

PROFESSOR CHARLES F. HOLDER has written a life of Charles Darwin as the first volume in a series devoted to leaders of science.

A REPUBLICAN newspaper says that Matthew Stanley Quay is still a great man. How many people mistake notoriety for fame!

WITH THE WEEKLY EDITORS.

We are glad to learn that Editor Clarke, of The Lee County News, who has been sick, is convalescent.

We regret to learn that Editor C. R. Pendleton, of The Valdosta Times, is ill. Editor Pendleton is too valuable a man to his community to be sick long, and we trust he may speedily recover.

The Democrat Times, published at Demorest, Habersham county, by Fowler & Sibley, is the latest candidate for public favor in Georgia journalism. Its dress is neat and attractive and its make-up unexceptionable, while its columns are filled with crisp news items and well-written editorials. The Times is a seven column quarto, and looks as fresh as a sixteen-year-old girl in a new milk dress. We wish the publishers abundant success.

The Danielsville Monitor has changed hands. Mr. R. H. Kinnebrew has sold his interest to Mr. B. M. White, who will continue to publish the paper in connection with Mr. Ed P. McGowan. May the new proprietors grow rich and happy as all good newspaper men do in Georgia.

The editor of The Crawfordville Democrat has been presented with a pot which measured eighteen inches in circumference and weighed seven and a half pounds. This is said to be the average size of the crop. As long as Georgia editors are remembered in this way by their constituents they will never starve.

Editor Folsom, of The Eastman Times, occasionally drops into poetry. This is his latest effort:

Lives of rich men all remind us
That a dollar's not a dime,
And that, if well heeled with the former,
One can have a jolly time.

Notwithstanding the fact that the editor of The Carnesville Tribune is a charming young lady, its columns bristle with live and well-written political editorials instead of fashion notes. Miss Ellen Dorich is making The Tribune a goodly paper.

The trade issue of The Thomaston Times was well prepared, and shows the good taste of the publisher, Mr. E. W. Morcock.

GENERAL GEORGIA NEWS.

There seems to be some probability that the town of Girard may be known as West Columbus.

It is said that the Central Railroad Company is thinking of doing away with the privilege hitherto accorded its clerks and other employees of securing free transportation over the road by means of passes.

Rice planters in south Georgia are happy over the prospects of making money on their crops this year. Rice birds are said to be unusually scarce, which may account for it.

Tallahassee claims more northern residents than any other city in the south.

The lumber business of Brunswick is increasing rapidly.

A forty-room tenement house created a very large fire in Brunswick. Loss, $2,000.

A Brunswick somnambulist while asleep walked out of a second-story window and fell to the street below. The fall did not awake him, and he walked back into the house and went to bed. The two events were not serious, though quite painful, when he finally awoke. He is evidently a sound sleeper.

There is more building going on in Smithville now than at any time in its history.

The latest freak in Lee county is a cow with twin calves.

Kelley pears are being shipped from Thomasville. They command $5 per barrel.

Mr. Louis Patten, aged thirty-five, living near Milltown, committed suicide by hanging himself through the abdomen. Ill health is the cause alleged.

Rev. Leonidas C. Torkelson, a minister from Africa, is visiting the cities along the coast for the purpose of forming a colony to go to Africa.

There is an epidemic of yellow jaundice in and about Dawson.

A Mrs. Griffin, of Waycross, is said to be the mother of twenty-six children.

The allencement of Jackson, Banks, Madison and Franklin counties will establish an oil and gunpowder factory at Montgomery Grove, Ga. The capital stock will be $24,000.

A charter has been granted for a new railroad to run from Athens to some point in Walker county.

Richland is growing faster than any town in southwest Georgia.

Dodge county fair will open its gates on October 10th.

Eastman needs and ought to have a good system of waterworks.

The sweet potato crop in south Georgia is said to be the best ever grown.

The new Baptist church at Hamilton was dedicated yesterday, the dedication sermon being preached by G. A. Nunnally.

An effort is being made to get up a stock show in Lincoln county.

Alpharetta has an elevation of 1,464 feet, which is ninety-six feet higher than Atlanta.

Every stonehouse in Madison is occupied.

Mr. J. C. Key, of Monticello, has been appointed permanent receiver of the Covington and Macon railroad. The road will be sold.

A new allowance warehouse has been opened at Yuleville.

The alliance warehouse at McDonough is being enlarged.

The Henry County Times is endeavoring to get up a colt show for Henry county.

Dwelling houses are in great demand in Thomaston.

Albany will never be happy until a new union depot is built.

Several cases of typhoid fever are reported at Elberton.

Elberton Gazette: Master Chaldron Ethridge shot a blue crane, measuring six feet from tip of its bill to its tail, last Wednesday morning at the mill-pond. The crane had a snake several feet long in its mouth, which it had partially swallowed.

Fayetteville News: Phebe Martin, a negro woman over seventy years of age, in attempting to tip her hat at three o'clock yesterday morning, after the freshest last Sunday, lost her footing and was washed more than a half mile down stream. When found she was dead.

The Crawford County Herald says: Willie White sold 1800 dozen eggs this year from thirty-five hens, besides what his family has eaten, and several settings. The hens only laid one egg a day.

Over one hundred thousand tons of rails have been received in Macon for the Macon and Dublin railroad. Tracklaying will progress rapidly.

The Calhoun county fair will be held on November 12th, 13th and 14th.

Terrill county will vote on the question of a new constitution on the 8th of October.

Crawford County Herald: Mr. M. F. Perry tells us of a pear tree that he saw last week on Mrs. Hancock's place, in this county, that two feet from the ground measured five feet and nine inches to the top of the tree, and still healthy, flourishing and bears delicious fruit.

STATE POLITICS.

Anthony Wilson, colored, is the republican senatorial nominee in the Brunswick district. He is a brother to Hercules Wilson, the colored senatorial candidate in the Darien district.

It is said that the two nominees to hear a joint debate between Folton and Everett.

Harrison county has endorsed General John B. Gordon for the senate.

Dr. W. F. Golden, of Drakentown, is an independent candidate for the senate against H. D. Hutcherson, republican nominee.

Hon. L. F. Livingston will deliver an address at Dahlonega next Tuesday.

Hon. W. S. Humphreys has been nominated for representative from Brooks county by primary election. His opponent was Captain J. G. McCall.

Mr. J. E. Nunnally has been nominated for state senator from the twenty-seventh senatorial district.

Mr. Phil W. Davis, of Elbert, will make the race for the senate in the thirtieth district against Mr. M. C. Wither, the republican nominee.

Major James P. Walker, of Webster, secured the nomination from the twelfth senatorial district.

Eastman Times: The next will be a farmers' league. It will do a good work, and receive universal commendation if it provides better school for farmers' children.

There is perfect unity in the democratic ranks of Morgan county.

American Recorder: Politics are warm in every portion of the state but southwest Georgia. Every part of the state is too busy with building, itself up, and inaugurating new enterprises to fool much with politics.

Dr. J. E. H. Ware is the nominee for the legislature in Wayne county.

The Barnesville Gazette announces that Judge J. S. Pope, of Zebulon, is in the field for judge of the Flint circuit, in opposition to Judge J. S. Boynton, the present incumbent.

Hon. E. B. Smith, of Jasper county, is the nominee for senator from the twenty-eighth senatorial district.

Crawford County Democrat: If ability, experience, honesty and popularity have any weight in the election of a speaker, then Clark Howell will be the next speaker of the house.

Caste in India.

From The London News.

The struggle between the ancestral wisdom and the ideas of Yon India is strong and bitter. In some parts of the peninsula, Surat, in the Bombay presidency, was the spot in which the British power first took root 25 years ago. Yet old and new are warring to add that all the babies of the caste to come to Europe to study medicine.

Even the mere act of crossing the Kalpani (black water) ocean is a deadly sin, to be explained by priests rick costing much money. Ropes are at the bottom of it. A young Brahmin named Vaisnavu, who returned to India with his English M. B. and B. Sc., had been before the assembly of his caste fellows. He had been boycotted at a wedding party, and he had been forced to part with his children under pain of seeing them excommunicated for life. The Irish boycott is sometimes pretty stiff, but it is milk of human kindness itself in comparison with the Hindu system of letting a fellow sinner "severely alone." A Brahmin of Haroda is "up" before he is caught by attending the oriental congress at Stockholm.

WHO GETS OUT THE PAPER?

A Study in Journalism.

The managing editor, news editor and city editor seated in the managing editor's room, smoking cigarettes, exalting the scoop they had that morning, and belittling the scoops of the esteemed contemporaries. Enter the proprietor and editor smoking a cigarette.

Proprietor and Editor—Gentlemen, there's got to be more pop about this office, or there will be some high-salaried positions vacant. We were beat to death by the howl on the strike's riot; the summary scold should have been headed up at night. I want some one to make-up the paper who knows the difference between a first-page story and the Dohology. I want—(Exit kicking.)

When the proprietor and editor is gone the others smile knowingly and wearily.

Managing Editor—That's the kind of a foot the Lord ordains shall own newspapers. Still, as long as he has sense enough to hire good newspaper men, he can have the credit of being one himself. You can have twelve columns for local tonight and sixteen for telegraph.

(News editor and city editor retire to news editor's room.)

News Editor—Wasn't that rich—Puffer saying the boss was no newspaper man?

City Editor—Pec and kettle!

News Editor—Puffer ordered that Apache story himself, without consulting me. He doesn't know a news story from a hair mattress. Got a cigarette. Thanks. Keep that fight inside of a column tonight, and spread on the strike's riot.

The city editor goes to his room and explodes to his assistant and a copy reader.

City Editor—Once a city editor had something to say about local matter, but now a news editor with no more newspaper sense than a Jay, orders you to do the work.

Assistant City Editor—What has that luminous genius been ordering now, Billy?

City Editor—Says we must keep the fight down and spread on the strike.

Assistant City Editor—That! The Bawl spread the strike this morning only because they knew we would keep it down.

City Editor—Yes, and tomorrow it will spread the fight for the same reason. Then the "Bawl" will come shouting for pop, and blame this end of the shop.

Assistant City Editor—The only end with any news sense in it.

A DISCUSSION OF THE AMERICAN DIPLOMAT ABROAD.

Copyright 1890.

The other evening at a private dinner party I engaged in conversation with an elderly gentleman, who appears to have known every foreign diplomat to this court for the past thirty years. I asked him about the different American ministers, and judge of my surprise when he said:

"Reverdy Johnson so far as meeting the English idea of a diplomat was by common ing the last exposition for $1,000. Once fore the horses ran away, but did no dam-

URIC ACID

Is a deadly poison, and when taken up by the system quickly produces death.
Sluggish, inactive kidneys fail to purify the blood, and uric acid is left in it to course through the system, poisoning the whole body, producing uricemia, which is so fatal to human life.

To preserve health, the kidneys must be kept in healthy condition. As a Kidney Tonic, no preparation is so effective as

Stuart's Gin and Buchu

It acts promptly, effectively and mildly on the kidneys and all other portions of the urinary tract, thus keeping the blood pure, and thereby preserving the health.

One of my children, who has been a great sufferer from kidney troubles, has derived more benefit from

STUART'S GIN AND BUCHU than all other remedies, and I have tried quite a number.

COLD-BLOODED MURDER.

ONE NEGRO SHOTS ANOTHER IN SOCIAL CIRCLE.

After the Shooting the Murderer Leaves on the Night Express, Coming in the Direction of this City.

Murdered in cold blood! Jim Campbell, a negro youth, shot General Gaither, a negro lad of his own color, at Social Circle Saturday night.

The shooting was entirely unprovoked, and was a piece of deliberate, murderous recklessness.

There was a negro ball going on near town, and Gaither was standing in front of the house where the merry-making was being indulged in.

After frolicking around inside for awhile, Campbell came out, and drawing a pistol, remarked:

"I'll be d-d if I ain't gwine to kill somebody."

Walking a few steps from the door he pointed the pistol at Gaither and pulled the trigger.

The bullet sped true to the mark and entered the abdomen of the negro. With a groan he fell to the ground, and realizing what he had done Campbell fled and in the darkness made good his escape.

He is thought to have boarded the night express and to have come in the direction of this city.

Yesterday morning, about 11 o'clock, the wounded negro died, after suffering several hours.

Mr. H. N. Phillips, constable from Social Circle, called at police headquarters last evening, after making a thorough and fruitless search of points in the city where it was supposed the murderer might be found, and left a notice for his apprehension.

Campbell is described as of a dark, ginger-cake color, thick lips, about five feet ten inches high and weight about 160 pounds.

Social Circle, Ga., September 21.—(Special.)—A cold-blooded murder was committed at this place at a negro frolic last night about 12 o'clock, all of the parties being colored.

Joseph Campbell, a worthless character, walked into a crowd, remarking that he was going to kill some d-n nigger and fired his pistol, the ball entering General Gaither about four inches below the umbilicus and ranging downward, lodged in the back near the spine. Drs. Gibbs and Spence performed a very difficult operation. The intestines were perforated in several places and the cavity cased of an immense amount of coagulated blood. The victim only lived a short time after the operation. The murderer escaped, and is supposed to be in Atlanta.

THE GREAT SALE

Will Continue Till the 30th—A Sweeping Reduction in Odd China and Brics-a-Brac.

Dobbs, Wey & Co.'s sale of odd china still continues and is increasing in volume daily, as the people learn of the excellent bargains that are offered, in good faith, at original cost. Everybody is satisfied, except some of our smaller competitors, who complain, because the crowd of purchasers flock to our store. This we cannot help, and to make it more interesting, we will offer our entire line of Art Pottery and Brics-a-Brac on the same terms, until the close of this month. This collection consists of choice specimens of "Royal Worcester," "Old Hall," "Doulton's," "Royal Dresden," and of other celebrated factories of Europe. These goods are all of new styles and patterns, as is the china we are now slaughtering. It is the natural result of our immense importing business, exceeding in volume that of all the firms on our line in the city combined, that we should have at the close of the season a great many odd sets and odd pieces, and to close these out in a hurry, we offer inducements in the way of LOW PRICES that must make them move.

We still have a large number of Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets, Tea Sets, odd dozens Plates, Cups, Saucers, fancy pieces of china, white and decorated, ALL GOING AT COST while they last.

We are determined to clean out the entire lot before our new stock, now coming over, will be placed on the shelves. Remember, this sale closes with this month, so come in time for your share of the bargains.

Wonders

Are wrought by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, preventing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, silky, and abundant, and the scalp cool, healthy, and free from dandruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this preparation has no equal as a dressing, and is, therefore, indispensable to every well-furnished household.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has wrought wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff, and was rapidly becoming bald; but since using the Vigor my hair has grown again, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman. I can heartily recommend any one suffering from dandruff or loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing."—Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East Pittsboro, Me.

"Some time ago my wife's hair began to come out quite freely."

not only prevented my wife from becoming bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. I am ready to certify to this statement before a justice of the peace."—H. Hulsebus, Lewisburgh, Iowa.

"Some years ago, after a severe attack of brain fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as a physician ordered, but failed to procure a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by druggists, and all alike fell short of accomplishing the desired result. The last remedy I applied was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think I used eight bottles in two years; more than was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Ayer's Hair Vigor possesses virtues far above those of any similar preparation now on the market."—Vincent Jones, Richmond, Ind.
